To the editor:

The Parkland College Educational Channel, PCETV, provides unique educational and informational programming 24 hours a day, seven days a week, including shows that engage science, arts, foreign language, and career-based themes. The cable channel also offers weekly telecourses, which students can take for college credit.

If your readers do not yet have access to PCETV, I encourage them to contact their local cable company for help. It is now technically feasible for every resident in our Parkland College District to have access to this wonderful learning opportunity.

Sincerely,

Tom Bennett
Parkland College Trustee
